A good year

The year we left behind was quiet successful for Kosovo Police. These successes have begun counting from the successful police operations, especially in the field of combating criminal offences of the organized crime, such as: confiscation of narcotics, trafficking with human beings, economic crimes, smuggling with migrants, as well as prevention and treating of all cases, from the patrol units in field of all the negative phenomena falling within the scope of Kosovo Police.

Police officers in all levels during this year, except prevention, have conducted other police operation that have resulted with arresting of many persons involved in criminal offences, by increasing the discovery of cases and disorganization of criminal groups that have operated.

One of the Police achievements during the past year and that continued also this year is the joining of new police officers to KP who brought new work energy and freshness, and that can be observed in the field everywhere in capital. The work of these teams through the streets of capital was observed and appreciated a lot by people through their positive comments for their professional approach at work, but also for their donnish and professional appearance.

Also, after a relatively long time, with a decision of the General Director of KP Mr. Shpend Maxhuni, a year ago also began the promotion process for the members of Kosovo Police, starting from the highest ranks: lieutenant colonel up to the sergeant rank, a process that is still going on.

The motivation for advancement that at the same time is a human need, not only for the Police members, but in this case the desire to develop a successful career within the Kosovo Police, made a considerable number of police officers of KP to come out of the routine to work and study hard, not that they didn't previously do such thing but they aimed to be prepared for testing phases for their aspired ranks in order to be much more successful and to achieve a final aim.

The end of 2012 came with the completion of the process for Lie-colonel ranks, while the first quarter of this year with Major and Captain Ranks to continue the process with other ranks such as: Lieutenant and Sergeant, processes that take much more time due to the large number of the candidates to be subject of testing.

The organization of this process requires a great work and commitment for the Directorate of Career Management and Performance of KP that undoubtedly a merit for maintenance of this process belongs to them. This year KP celebrates its 14-th anniversary of establishment even though as a number is only two-digit and can be seen small, but KP has already created its identity as a professional organization and worthy to perform its duties and missions.

No doubt that despite the achievements so far is noteworthy that we police officers who have decided to spend the life, work and career in the uniform of the Republic of Kosovo, should with ongoing work and commitment, maintain and increase the confidence that our people gave us during these years and to return them this confidence with much more qualitative service.

THE WORK OF REGIONAL DEPARTMENT C

Signing of the Memorandum of understanding and cooperation protocols with police organizations of neighbor countries, Albania, Montenegro and Macedonia, in various fields of joint activities in combating inter-border crime, which is anyhow related with the organized crime, has increased the general safety in the joint borders.

These days, respectively on 01.07.2013

Kosovo Police in general, and especially Border Police within KP, are more and more fulfilling the requirements for meeting the highest standards of the developed democratic countries, especially in the integrated border management field has begun the implementation in practice the protocol for the system "check in entrance" in two border checkpoints, Qafë Morinë and Qafë Prush, a practice which is being implemented in BCP Vermicë since the summer of 2011. With this, all the border checkpoints with the Republic of Albania, BCP Vermicë, BCP Qafa e Prushit and Qafa e Morinës are working with the "check in entrance" system, by which system the control is made only in entrance of each country. This system does not restrain or limit the control on exit, which can be implemented at any time with the profiling methodology, when the analysis and risk assessment foresees it as necessary and essential. From the so far experience, this system has great advantages in avoiding long queues especially in summer season when circulation, especially in BCP Vermicë is enormous.

On 16.06.2013 in the border check-point station in Vermicë, based on the protocol for cooperation with the border police of the Republic of Albania, has started to operate the Center for Joint Cooperation and Information Exchanges. This center has a character of a coordination office for faster and reliable exchange of relevant information in the joint combat against inter-border crime, but also cooperation in all fields of common interest.

In the area of border with the Republic of Albania there are also three temporary border checkpoints in Shishtavec-Shishtavec, Gllloboçicë-Borje dhe Orçushë-Orgjost. These three points serve for border crossing of the residents of settlements from the two boundary sides in fixed schedule. After Shishtavec since the date 26.06.2013 two other points Gllloboçicë-Borje and Orçushë-Orgjost are joint, which means work in shared facilities and the control performed jointly (three of the points are in the territory of Albania). On 25.06.2013 in Peja was held the joint meeting of the demarcation groups with Montenegro. The expectations are this process to be completed. Joint activities with the border police of neighboring states have continued, being intensified also during this year. With the republic of Albania and Macedonia, based on the joint protocols the number of joint patrols is increased, meanwhile with Montenegro until achieving another agreement was continued with the synchronized patrols. Below are some illustrations of the joint activities with the border police of the Republic of Albania.

Interview with Mr. Naim Rexha, Deputy General Director of Kosovo Police

INTELLIGENCE LED POLICING

Protector': You have been assigned by the general director as a coordinator for implementation of the strategy "Intelligence Led Policing" could you mention some of the important activities that have been developed since the beginning of the implementation of this strategy?

Naim Rexha: The strategy "Intelligence Led Policing", (ILP) aims to create a modern policing methodology that would enable the Kosovo Police to have a proactive access to the problem and to in-

The strategy "Intelligence Led Policing" enabled Kosovo Police to use its resources effectively and efficiently through the application of the modern policing methodology, enabling decision-making, based on the intelligence products crease the efficiency in performing police duties. With the implementation of this strategy and action plan, it is aimed to strengthen the implementation of the model "intelligence led policing" in Kosovo police.

In accordance to the implementation dynamics, so far there have been developed the foreseen activities as scheduled by the action plan, which are as following:

- Criteria for recruitment of the personnel directly engaged in intelligence duties have been reviewed and fulfilled.

- Review and completion of job descriptions for intelligence police officers.
- Identification of training needs has been completed as well as 11 Intelligence trainers have been certified.
- Directorate of international cooperation in the field of law enforcement has held joint regular meetings with other institutions.
- Regarding strengthening the cooperation with citizens and civil society, in all meetings of MCCA throughout Kosovo municipalities, there participated station commanders as determined by Administrative Instruction.
- While regarding the cooperation with civil society, there have been organized meetings with NGOs, which deal with studying and treatment of problems in the law enforcement field.
- Meetings with educational institutions have been held, always with the aim to empower the implementation of this strategy.

‘Protector’: As it’s more than two years now since KP began to implement this strategy, have the standard operating procedures regarding the implementation of this strategy been drafted, and will you mention some of them?

Naim Rexha: Yes, Standard Operating Procedures (SOP) regarding the implementation of this strategy have been drafted. Also with the aim of implementation of the ILP strategy, the modification of the current SOPs has been done in the level of all departments of KP.

‘Protector’: You mentioned the trainings of police officers about the implementation of this policing model, what trainings have been held and what are the plans for the future in this field?

Naim Rexha: During the period April – June of this year, four trainings have been held and 65 officers have been trained including the trainers. The trainings have been focused in the field of intelligence led policing and among the trainings held there are: the training on analysis of the criminal intelligence, the advanced training on the criminal intelligence and creating the basis for criminal intelligence analysis, the training on evaluation of risks, motives and psychological support of informers as well as the intelligence training for trainers.

‘Protector’: This is the second strategy after the expiration of the first strategy, Intelligence Led Policing, what are the challenges, problems encountered during the implementation, as this has been a novelty for Kosovo Police?

Naim Rexha: Of course, the implementation of a new policing model in any organization has its initial difficulties and challenges, but so far we have successfully dealt with the difficulties encountered and we have managed to implement our activities in accordance to the implementation plan. The implementation of this intelligence process is a challenge in itself, as this new philosophy requires a new approach in the police work and adaptation of the police staff in this methodology. As a result of the ILP strategy and trainings held, police officers have gradually get used to this police philosophy. Through trainings and meetings held in various levels within KP, police officers have been clarified that the development and implementation of the unique and sustainable system of police intelligence is necessary. The Strategy “Intelligence Led Policing” allowed Kosovo Police to use its sources effectively and efficiently through implementation of the modern policing methodology, enabling decision-making, based on intelligence products.

‘Protector’: A question regarding the trend of crime and the issue of reducing fear of crime. A problem faced by most police organizations when started such reforms has been the increasing trend of crime, but various researches have shown that the fear of crime has been reduced. Have you followed the issue of the trend of crime, fear of crime or the reaction time, the strategy which has already began, what is its effect in investigation of the reported cases?

Naim Rexha: Kosovo Police while drafting this document and action plan, paid special attention to mechanisms of its implementation, which are related very closely to the model “Community Policing”, focusing in inclusion of the community concerns in making Police priorities, in order to create a more secure environment for all citizens of the Republic of Kosovo.

Continuous implementation of this model will enable Kosovo Police to implement adequate policing methods, proactive approach, efficient planning and management of resources as well as better work organization. Moving from the reactive approach to the proactive approach of crime combating as well as turning the intelligent information to formative intelligence has given results which have contributed in reducing fear of crime, in increasing the efficiency and effectiveness in prevention and investigation of criminal cases.

‘Protector’: Intelligence-Led-Policing has a mission, duty collecting information in the field, analyzing from the respective section as well as delivery of those information to the police unit responsible to prevent or investigation crime. How much does this approach affect the increase of the internal cooperation between KP units and sections?

Naim Rexha: The strategy Intelligence-Led-Policing and the action plan of this strategy has been designed in such a way to enable the full functioning of the process of intelligence in all organizational levels, allowing the inclusion of all KP employees in this process. This process aims fulfilling the mission of Kosovo Police as well as strategic objectives derived from the KP “Strategic Development plan” as well as other strategic (national and section) documents through capacity building within Kosovo Police, advancing the systems of information technology and communication, strengthening cooperation and coordination, as well as other necessary practical activities for functioning of the entire process. Collecting information from the field, analyzing them from the respective section as well as its delivery to the police unit responsible for prevention and investigation of crime, affects in increasing the internal cooperation between KP units and sections.

‘Protector’: What would be your message for all police officers regarding the Strategy Intelligence-Led Policing?

Naim Rexha: I invite and encourage all police officers regardless of rank to give their contribution in order to implement the strategy “Intelligence-Led-Policing”. They can make their contribution through cooperation with Intelligence police officers in terms of providing information, making intelligence reports as well as forwarding them to the respective units.

WORK OF A POLICE

Patrol work is a spirit of communication

Duties and responsibilities of a police officer performing patrol work begin from the moment of receiving tasks up to the moment of returning back at home. These are the components of the police officer, coordinating with the ability of communication and reporting for all problems from the citizens to the patrolling units that the latter face directly from the moment of receiving information for the present problems that with work and professionalism give positive results in combating and preventing all types of crime.

This concretization foresees the closer relation of patrolling police officer with the citizen. Not always things go as planned having in consideration challenges that may appear anytime. This flow continues with the commitment of patrolling police officer that with commitment performs daily plan in implementing duties and responsibilities assigned by law.

Patrol work is a spirit of communication between the police officer and a citizen, it connects many segments and many lines that have taken the wrong direction. In such situations when the patrolling police officer reacts in time, a citizen feels more comfortable and what has been done it is that it was performed a duty and a mission that was trusted to them in our society. The right to make decisions besides being determined by law what is right and wrong, in many situations depends on the individual decisions, criminal acts should not be tolerated but society as well is facing with problems that did not face in the past.

Receiving information, response in various cases when citizens ask for police assistance, implementation for the thrift in public traffic, communication with community representatives, giving support for what is obliged by law, evidencing persons in the list of wanted persons for committed crimes, assistance for the execution of court cases and many other duties consist the list of problems and duties that a patrolling police officer is assigned with. The excellent work of a patrol officer assists other police units to be closer to solving the problem if patrolling police officer manages to identify the persons living in a community or neighborhood and attendance of other persons, then police officer creates a personal records

between the police officer and a citizen

that can served on the progress of his work. These records help on what should be done in the future on crime prevention and removing the mask of all those people hiding behind. Work in sectors where a sector leader is equipped with information ranging from the number of residents, facilities of a special importance, schools, religious buildings and forms of religious practice in the community, the number of shops and crafts performed, data for persons that affect the society in which they live, obtaining information about the social and economic situation of the community and many other information represent, necessarily, facilitation of patrol police officer in the neighborhood and community. Social organization, education level and economic conditions of the community where police officer is serving with honor and dignity, also affects the work of patrol officer, certain forms of crime which appear or tend to show up in society patrol police officer can prevent by the handling in time and reporting community problems in time to the police commanding staff but also to other institutions, in order to be taken further actions and only this way when the police officer is active the future is safe.

These positive actions of the police patrol effectiveness can also be noticed in the work of sectors, although the collection of information by the police at first glance may seem an empty work but in the future it gives its positive results. Good example of a police officer has knowledge in the neighborhood or community where he patrols, know all the problems, dissatisfactions citizens face with, ranging from infrastructure and urban issues, the difficult economic situation, all these will encounter in patrolling police officer. Citizen would think that these problems are also police problems that police must solve.

But overall, patrol police officer of Kosovo Police provides services with honor, dedication, professionalism and above all he performs the tasks with dignity, and thanks to all these positive attributes it is achieved that many crimes are detected and prevented always thanks to the Kosovo Police, thanks to the commitment of patrol units and other police units.

FUTURE POLICE OFFICERS

In the implementation of the police plan 'The beginning of new school year' realized by the police officers of Road Traffic Division and Directorate of Policing in Community and Preventive have performed many activity in this September as well, that aim informing pupils on safety in road traffic.

This police plan is divided in three phases, like: phase of identification of areas of greater risk as a consequence of absence of road traffic signs or greater frequency of vehicles and pedestrians, second phase includes lecturing in schools, where pupils are informed with the road traffic rules and risks in communication and third phase is practical performance with pupils in the road.

This practice is done in all police stations where pupils of primary schools accompanied by traffic and community police officers, go out and together deal on regulating traffic in the roads of the country. Although they are young, they really look like traffic police officers. With the "Stop" sign in hand and fluorescent vest and cap with "Police" emblems, they implement the law, regulating traffic in various roads of the country. Such activity was realized also on 24.09.2013 with pupils of grade

VI of primary school "Ismail Qemali" in Prishtina. Work with children in field is a work with great responsibility and attractive at the same time, are saying police officers implementing this police plan.

Meanwhile, children show happiness in the police uniform of state where they are growing and at the same time they express joy and happiness that today we are going to "revenge to some drivers that don't give us priority even on the pedestrian crossings". To these children policemen, we initially give information on how to pull over a vehicle, how to approach to the driver but never forgetting their safety during work.

Continuously accompanied by the traffic police, pupils have demonstrated practically knowledge they gained from school or lectures held by police officers for road traffic safety.

The aim of this police plan is that while being the future of this country, children collect information in the field of traffic for the culture they should have when they become part of the traffic, be it as pedestrian or drivers.

This activity has become traditional and it is being realized in cooperation with schools. This project is implemented every year from the Directorate of Policing in Community and Prevention, and by the officers of the Road Traffic Division. Such activity impacts in bringing police closer to the community, in building cooperation bridges, education of the coming generations on road traffic safety, but also it impacts drivers to think more clearly that September is a period when schools are opened and be more careful while driving in resident areas as well as near schools.

The right education of the coming generation is our obligation, therefore KP should undertake as many such activities that are in the service of the community, especially children that without knowing what in fact is a police job express their desire to become police when they grow up, why not, maybe they are some of them replacing us in the future.

Through the roads of city
When we something hear
Fiu fiu fiu
Uncle policeman runs
When we go to school
When we pass the street
With white gloves
You protect us
Through the roads of city
When we something hear
Fiu fiu fiu
Uncle policeman runs*
